

KEYBOARD SCHOLARS

In the living room of her Forest Hills, N.Y., home, Heidi Upton practices the piano while parents listen.

In San Francisco, Mary Chi-Fun Lee practices at home. Later, Mary won second and Heidi first place awards.

A pleased Heidi smiles as others applaud the announcement that she is the first place winner in the Mitropoulos Awards finals.

Mary Chi-Fun Lee, a 17-year-old San Francisco high school student, removed the bandages from her fingers sore from practicing, rubbed her hands together nervously, then walked on stage to play a Bach Prelude for a panel of judges at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo.

In the wings another contestant, Heidi Upton of Forest Hills, N.Y., waited nervously for her turn to perform, discouraged by Mary's brilliant piano playing.

So it went last March as these two girls from opposite sides of the country competed with six others for the coveted Dimitri Mitropoulos Music Scholarships to Stephens.

They'd worked their way through regional eliminations to this moment of truth. Now, the final eliminations rested upon the critical ears of the distinguished judges.

When it was over Heidi was named winner and Mary runner-up. As Mary tried to fight back her tears one of the judges announced that he would make up the $1,500 difference between first and second place from his own pocket.

Both girls were winners. Both are now studying at Stephens.

Now it's time for a new group of talented young girl pianists, eager to study at Stephens, to begin the trial by elimination for this year's awards. Preliminary auditions started in Miami October first and will be followed, through December, by other regional auditions in Detroit, San Francisco, New York and Columbia, Mo. The finals will be held again in March at Stephens.

The Mitropoulos awards of $6,000, $4,500 and $3,750, plus ten additional scholarships, are made yearly to aspiring young girl concert pianists so that they may further their studies in music.

They're given by the Helis Foundation of New Orleans as a memorial to the late Greek-born conductor of the New York Philharmonic Society Orchestra and Metropolitan Opera.

The eight contestants left for the finals draw numbers to determine the order of appearance for the last audition in the Mitropoulos Awards.

- Dress shirt and tie or conservative sport shirt with sport coat or sweater.
- Standard trousers (meaning, not skin-tight), slacks or khakis, clean and pressed.
- Shoes clean and polished; white bucks acceptable.

On the AIMBW "not recommended" list:

- Dungarees or soiled, wrinkled khakis.
- T-shirts or sweatshirts.
- Extreme styles of shoes, such as sandals, etc.

Regarding grooming, the AIMBW says:

"Attention should be given to apparel neatness. Boys should wear apparel in standard fashion with shirts tucked in and buttoned, ties tied at the neck. Good body grooming is also important—trimmed and clean nails, neatly brushed and combed hair, clean and fresh face and hands."

School systems can obtain "dress right" material from the AIMBW, which will also prepare special material for a particular school (address: 1290 Avenue of the Americas, New York City).

Designs Out for Tots

CHILD'S ROOM takes on sophisticated air with papier mache animals from Mexico, adult-type wallpaper and drapery fabric print, polka dot paper chair by Peter Muroch. Floor carpeted in a carved cloud motif in acrylic fiber is base for updating furnishings when this little girl has a few more birthdays.

By AILEEN SNOODY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Many designers of items for children's rooms are all for leading the tots down the creative path while they're still in training pants. The initial step, they say, is in providing a proper, nonstatic environment.

Certainly the decor of a small child's room has changed considerably. There are more shifts to come on the decorating scene, though.

Pink and blue and yellow still may be among color choices when some parents want to freshen their offspring's pad. These shades, however, no longer dominate or appear in the traditional, cut-and-dried storybook designs. Peter Rabbit and his friends often are around. So are Winnie the Pooh and all his delightful ilk.

But the over-all setting of a room now is spruced up with more contemporary fabric and wallpaper designs. The accessories, interior designers note, may take on an international flavor with papier mache animals from Mexico and prints of folklore figures from other countries.

More and more color takes over the child's room scene. Keeping the traditional color triumvirate company are bright greens, reds, gold and even touches of black. The mad mod colors are being moderated slightly for the wee ones.

With all the cheeriness of the prints being used in a child's room, mother still welcomes practicality in fabric and furniture finishes. Fluffy area rugs that are extremely washable remain a favorite and these, too, come in all price ranges, fabrics and contemporary designs. For example, a Scandinavian firm offers Hans Christian Andersen characters whimsically drawn and worked in wool for a handcrafted look. These rugs later may be used as wall hangings.

Carpeting comes into its own in a child's room when of a cleanable fiber. Surface texture is of growing importance for use throughout the whole house and a richly carved version of a classic cloud motif in an acrylic fiber (Lees' Charlestown of Orion 33) is resilient and easy to spot clean. Such carpeting takes on new meaning as the child grows and the furniture and color scheme are changed to keep pace with his age.

All in all, today's tot and his parents benefit as the childish stereotypes in furniture, color and design make way for art, whimsy and practicality.

STRANGERS WHEN THEY MEET

Dear Helen: I am just past 16, but look older, so I like older boys because they have nicer cars, more money and are better fun.

One summer evening I was out walking and a cute boy in a swell car picked me up. We went to a drive-in, and after the show, we parked by a lake. I don't allow anything but necking, which surprised him. I was scared and didn't want to see him again, so, besides using a phony name, I also gave a phony address and telephone number. To tell the truth I was awfully drawn to him.

Everything was fine until lately. Now his parents have bought a house in our block and will move in soon. Worse still, my parents and his parents have met and plan to be real neighbors. My mother can't wait to introduce me to "that nice boy," and I'm afraid his mother is matching us up too.

How can I get through this with the least embarrassment?—S.S.P.

Dear S: Pretend you're "strangers when you meet," and when you see him alone tell him you used to know a stupid girl who took chances on pick-ups, but you out-grew her.

P.S. A girl who thinks a pick-up plus a drive-in equals "necking" is too naive to be let out alone on a summer evening. Your parents should watch you more carefully.—H

Los Alamos to Be Landmark

Youth Beat

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

THEY'RE STEALING YOUR WAGONS, GUYS: Latest snitch by adults is now going on in the slot-rod world. Originally the joy of preteens, first teens, then adults found the little cars fascinating. The toy racing cars, two to eight inches long, with names such as Grand Prix, Black Widow, Fireball, Indianapolis, clock speeds, in relation to their size, of 600-700 miles per hour for real cars.

Slot cars hopped the ocean from Britain to the United States only 10 years ago and now 10 million are sold annually. California first took them out of homes and put them into commercial raceways . . . today, there are 3,000 slot raceways across the country. The buglike cars, powered by tiny brushes that pick up the electric current, speed along with their fins guiding them. In the track's slots. Young adults, old adults and professionals race their cars against each other and look forward to competing for international prizes now totaling over $100,000. The first American champion will win a $5,000 scholarship, a full-sized car and a trip to the international slot car races in France.

NO NEED TO LET ACNE GET YOU DOWN: This time of the year, you get less sun and exercise, sit in closed-in rooms, are tempted more by sweets. Acne flares up—it's widespread, but most frequent among teen-agers. With a season of dances and social life coming up, unpredictable acne can upset emotionally and cause you to clam up socially.

Now, relief of acne is predictable. Recognition of its major health importance has led to sharp medical progress . . . and clinics to serve teen-agers only have been set up in many cities. Cutting out all candies, desserts, soda isn't always necessary. Most important—comes the word from medical societies—is the application of modern treatments. These stress sulfonamides, antibiotics, estrogens and X rays . . . as well as antibacterial detergents, thorough cleansing, and super-clean linens. Today's medicine, scientific sources report, "can cure all cases of acne within a year." Take it to the doctor.

MAKE ROOM FOR THE COFFEEHOUSE: The 600 commercial coffeehouses in America are outnumbered today by private coffeehouses established only recently by young adults in home towns everywhere. The coffeehouse image has been cleaned up . . . do-it-yourself is the new spirit. Some are in the basements of homes, others in facilities borrowed from churches, high schools or YMCAs . . . still others have sprouted in vacant stores, theaters and other likely spots. For these new teen coffeehouse clubs, the enterprising founders beg furniture, slap out their own decoration, pay their own costs, lug in their own musical equipment, and charge—but only nominal prices. Taped or group music, dancing, old movies keep these hangouts jumping. But most come to drink coffee and be with friends—some come to study. Of, by and for young adults, these clubs are a down-to-earth switch on the Bohemian coffeehouse craze. Sure, rum and brandy are sometimes served, but they're strictly nonalcoholic . . . and the popularity of coffee is rivaled by milk, chocolate drinks and cider. These new-style mushrooming coffeehouses are the answer to—"Where can we go tonight?"

RUN-AWAY-FROM-HOME FLASH—GIRLS: For the first time in history girls are running away from home in greater numbers than boys, say New York City police, whose previous records show boys have always outrun girls in this pastime. The explanation: "Girls put more, are more sensitive, hold grudges longer." Among the 10,000 names New York chalks up as "missing persons" every year, most now are teen girls . . . But, luckily, four out of five go back after a couple of days roaming city haunts. To the old question, "Why do girls leave home?" police answer, "Because parents are delinquent as well as kids."

Miss Gardner, Like Other Actresses, Is Just Misunderstood

NEW YORK (AP) — Ava Gardner wants to change her public image.

"The image I seem to have — that I'm a loud-mouthed, temperamental, oversexed, sultry siren — sometimes terrifies me," said the film actress.

"People have a completely wrong idea about me. It's partly because of the roles I've played, partly the fault of the press.

"I don't go to cocktail parties or lead a very glamorous life. I am a very simple human being, easy to get along with except for a normal Irish temper. If I do lose it, I get over it the next minute.

"As for that funny word sultry, I'm as far from being sultry as . . ."

Words failed Miss Gardner. She made a lovely grimace. On her face even a grimace looks good.

Ava was resting in her hotel suite after the strain of attending the premiere the night before of a $15-million production of "The Bible," in which she plays Sarah, wife of Abraham.

"It's the only time in my life I actually enjoyed working — making that picture," she remarked.

Ava went to Hollywood a quarter of a century ago as the beautiful but naive daughter of a North Carolina farmer. There she became a star before she felt she had become an actress. She has made 40 films and acquired and shed three famous husbands — Mickey Rooney, Artie Shaw and Frank Sinatra.

Although they brought her a fortune and a world-known name, she feels now she has rather wasted 25 years of her life.

"I really hate the work of being a movie star," she said frankly. "I don't have the emotional make-up for it — the love of exhibitionism.

"I should never have been a movie star, and I don't have a great respect for it. That's ter-

TEEN BOOST OF THE MONTH CLUB

Dear Helen: For your Teen Boost of the Month Club:

In San Antonio, Texas, young people are working together to "make youth part of the solution rather than part of the problem."

Since 1964 they have had an active Youth Jury System. Well over 200 cases concerning traffic violations of young people have been tried under this system without a single known repeat violation.

The Youth Council on Civic Affairs not only serves in advisory capacities to the Judge, but also boasts a Youth Employment Service program which finds many summer jobs for students.

The Council participates each year in Texas' Attorney General's Youth Conference on Crime that brings together over 1,600 delegates from all over the State to help solve the problems of juvenile delinquency. They

LOVE at FIRST SIGHT

Remember, when you watch small children play, that they are among the greatest of God's gifts to the world. He holds a special love for them all... love at first sight. "Take heed,"

Jesus once said, "that ye despise not one of these little ones." Divine regard was also made clear when the Disciples ask of Jesus: "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of Heaven?" Every man should well know the parable Jesus used that day to teach them the place He holds in His kingdom for our little ones. Oh, Lord, may we show our love by taking them to church, by teaching them that God's way should be their way, that they are the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

You In The Church

And All These Things Shall Be Added Unto You.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Congress Cuts Tax Break On Dental Care for Elderly

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

New income tax law amendments recently passed by Congress have a little-known provision that should be of concern to elderly patients and dentists who are responsible for their dental health. It says that, beginning 1967, persons 65 years of age or older may deduct only those dental and medical expenses which exceed 3 per cent of their adjusted gross incomes.

Here's what it means to you. Under present Internal Revenue law if you're 65 or over you may deduct all your dental and medical costs for tax purposes. For instance, if your adjusted gross income is $6,000 and your dental costs are $150, you may deduct the entire $150.

However, starting Jan. 1, 1967, when Section 106 of Public Law 89-97 becomes effective, you won't be able to deduct any part of the $150 because that amount is less than 3 per cent of $6,000.

Apparently Congress felt that with Medicare's basic and supplementary health benefits there was no longer need for this tax deduction. But many elderly think it was kind of picky of Congress to have done this to them. It's disappointing enough, they say, that more dental health provisions were not included in Medicare.

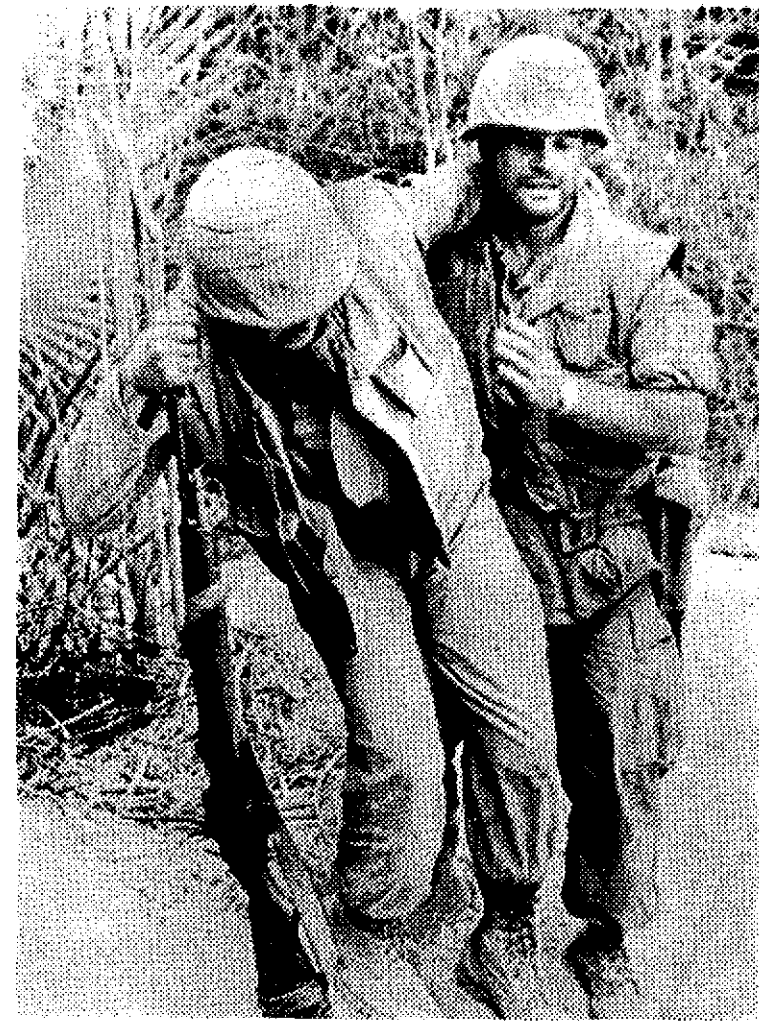

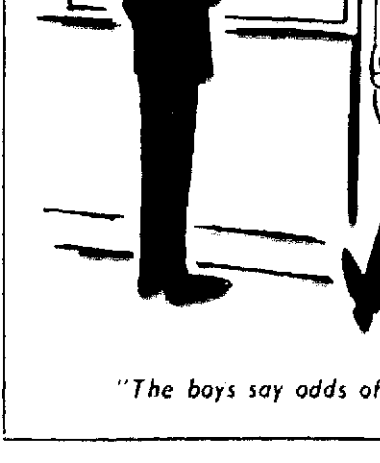

For somehow, in spite of the massive resistance to Medicare manifested by many of the medical profession, medical health benefits in the bill are adequate, while provision for restoring and maintaining dental health, except for limited oral surgery, was omitted.

In many cases dental health for the elderly is of vital importance in maintaining good physical and mental health. Many old people can't get proper nourishment because they have no teeth or poor fitting artificial ones and need new ones. Many complain they don't go out any more because they are ashamed of the way they look without teeth.

The new law deprives the elderly of a tax break they vitally need.

Please send your questions about dental health to Dr. Lawrence in care of this paper. While he cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Part of Trip by Johnson to Be on TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least part of President Johnson's trip to the Pacific next month may be televised live to the United States. But so many unpredictable factors are involved that some are betting it won't happen.

The mere possibility is worth noting, however, because of the potential impact on the Nov. 8 election of governors and Congress members.

Although the White House has sought to divorce the trip from politics, the President's journey hardly can be ignored by the voters — especially if they see it in their living rooms.

The possibility of live television coverage was explored Wednesday at a conference of White House aides, television network executives and officials of the Communications Satellite Corp., known as Comsat.

One White House aide described prospects for live television as very unlikely. Another source, closer to the technical problems involved, said it would be "hypothetically possible" — if everything works out perfectly.

Comsat plans to launch on Oct. 19 the first commercial satellite designed for television-radio-telephone transmission across the Pacific.

Johnson has agreed to fly to the Philippines on or after Oct. 18 to confer with leaders of the six Asian countries fighting Communist forces in Viet Nam.

Buck invented this Moon Wheel, which is balanced gyroscope fashion while a motor pulls the large outside wheels to propel the machine. Bobcats No Match for Crossett

BY LARRY DON WRIGHT
Hope Star Sports Editor

The Crossett Eagles went a long way toward strengthening their rating as the state's number one Class AA team with a thorough trouncing of the Hope Bobcats, 34-0, at Crossett last night.

The Bobcats were able to hold Crossett through the first period of play though the Eagles had the Cat backed up to their own goal line. Then early in the second quarter Crossett pushed the ball across for the initial score. That seemed to start a chain reaction and the rest of the game was Crossett all the way.

All those who were on hand for the game doubtless left convinced that the Eagles are one of the state's finest high school teams.

The formidable Eagle defense never allowed the Bobcats to move the ball out past the Hope 38-yard-line as the Cats were able to compile only 12 yards total offense in addition to one first down (by penalty). Hope was forced to punt on nine occasions.

Meanwhile the Eagle offensive machine rolled to 350 yards total offense.

The exceptional balance and the thorough execution of Crossett squad kept the Bobcats on their knees the entire night as Hope dropped its second decision of the season.

The Eagles were sluggish offensively through the first quarter of play as has been their trend throughout the season but sensational play by their defense kept things even till the scoring team got warmed up.

On Hope's first two possessions the Cats found themselves with a fourth and 11 situations deep in their own territory. Crossett took the second Bobcat punt just on the Hopeside of the 50-yard line. From there the Eagles began a drive toward the goal. But a brilliant Hope defensive effort at the Bobcat six turned back Crossett's fine effort. However, that was the last time the Cats were able to advance the Eagles' scoring assault.

After the Hope punt the Eagles took advantage of fine field position for a short touchdown drive which covered 24 yards in four plays.

The scoring play was a 18 yard pass from QB Tommy Holliman to halfback Riley Craig, a combination that scored two more touchdowns later in the game. The PAT was wide as Crossett led 6-0, with only 51 seconds gone in the second quarter.

The Eagles got on the scoreboard again before the end of the half though this time by way of a 60 yard march covering 13 plays. The scoring play came with 1:35 left in the half on a one yard 4th down dive by fullback Mike Brown, Ricky Riles, who leads the district in extra points booted the PAT to give Crossett a 13-0 halftime lead.

It took almost the entire third quarter for the Eagles to score again but with just under two minutes remaining in the period Brown took it in again, this time from four yards out, capping an 84-yard drive. Riles kicked the extra point again and the Eagles led 20-0 after three quarters.

However, the leaders in Region 4AA weren't through and they scored again just four minutes later. Quarterback Bobby Huntsman connected to Craig on a nine yard TD pass and Riles converted to make the tally 27-0.

With just 2:17 remaining on the clock Holliman hit Craig again and this was a 72 yard bomb. Riles kicked the PAT to round out the scoring at 34-0.

The Eagles now stand on top of Region 4AA with a conference record of five wins and no losses while the Bobcats sagged to a 2-2 district mark. However, remaining Bobcat foes promise to be considerably weaker than Crossett.

In first downs Crossett led 1-14; Net yards rushing was 12 for Hope and 231 for Crossett. Hope had no yards passing while Crossett had 119 with 7 of 9 completions. Hope completed 5 of 8 but none gained. Hope had one interception. The Bobcats one interception. The Bobcats did punt 9 times for a 33 yard average and Crossett 2 for 45. Hope lost one of three fumbles and Crossett fumbles twice but recovered both. Hope had four penalties for 28 yards and the Eagles six for 40.

Orioles Are Favored in Series Today

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — "A lot of things happened to us this year that never happened before," Sandy Koufax said.

And there probably was no better way to sum up the Los Angeles Dodgers' problems as they sent Claude Osteen to the mound against Baltimore's Wally Bunker today in the third game of the World Series.

The Dodgers will try to accomplish something that has never happened before in Series history — coming from behind to win after losing the first two games at home.

Four teams have reversed an 0-2 tailspin and gone on to the world championship since the Series became a best-of-seven showdown — the 1955 Dodgers, 1956 and 1958 Yankees and 1965 Dodgers — but all lost their first two games on the road.

In addition, Dodger Manager Walt Alston admitted after Thursday's 6-0 loss, in which the Dodgers committed a record-setting six errors, that "We've been two down before but we've never looked this bad."

The Dodgers not only looked bad on the field, but on paper as well. They collected just seven hits in the first two games for a pitiful .115 average compared with .246 for the Orioles, who have yet to make an error.

And Bob Johnson, one of the Orioles' reserve infielders said he thought he detected a crack in the Dodgers' spirit during the comedy of errors that took place under the California sun Thursday.

"After Lou Johnson made an out," Johnson said, "He walked with his head down and the umpire had to hurry him off the field."

"That exemplifies their spirit."

Punt, Pass and Kick Contest

The Hope Auto Company and the City of Hope Parks and Recreation Department will again sponsor the annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition for boys 8 thru 13 in Hope and surrounding area.

Each boy will compete against other boys his own age in three football skills: Punting, Passing and Place Kicking. There is no body contact and no special equipment is needed.

Points are awarded for each foot the ball travels in the air with points being deducted for each ft. the ball lands to the left or right of a center line. Measurements are made to the half-foot and half points awarded or deducted.

In 1965, 715, 817 boys registered for PP&K, with our local competition drawing over 80 boys. In the two years that Hope has competed in the program, we have had two State winners in Mike Newton in 1964 and Jimmy Pruden last year. Both boys traveled to Memphis to compete in regional competition. Since Hope is battling 1000 now, local footballers have a definite challenge to keep up our reputation.

Registration will continue until Friday, October 14th at the Hope Auto Company and each boy must be accompanied by one parent or guardian. Registrations will be accepted Saturday morning at Legion Field in Fair Park, up to 100 entrants, but participants are warned to register in advance at Hope Auto Co. to insure their being able to compete and also to speed up the actual competition.

Competition will be held at Legion Field, since K-Park is being resodded at present and would not be suitable.

Boys may register at the Hope Auto Company any day between 9:AM and 5:30 PM, with actual competition being at Legion Field on Saturday, October 15th, beginning at 10:00 AM.

Ordeal in Woods Told by 5 Year Old

NEW YORK (AP) — The 5-year-old child wandered through the New Hampshire woods, listening to the wind rustle the autumn leaves and watching the stream sparkle in the afternoon sunlight.

Time, and distance, passed. And suddenly Pamela Hollingworth knew she was lost.

"Every once in a while, when the wind blows through the trees in a certain way, it all comes back; just for an instant, it all comes back," she says today.

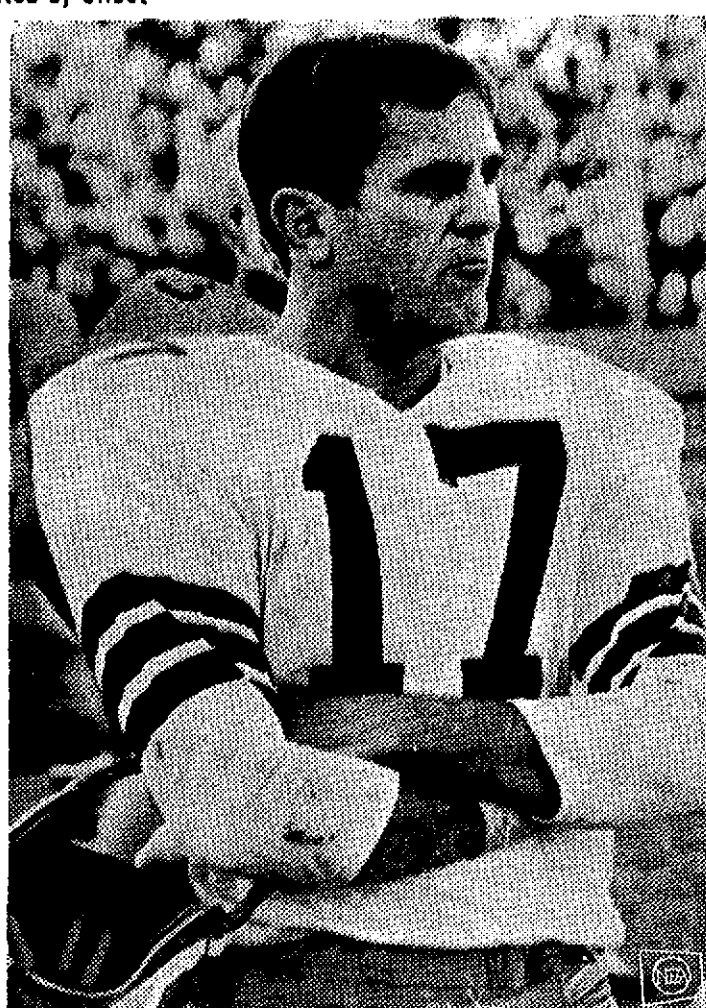

Pamela, now 30, is a public relations executive in New York for a national retailer (Lane Bryant). Looking back on the ordeal that ended exactly 25 years ago today, she said:

"I knew all the time my parents would come for me. But just for a second, I panicked."

Clutching a plastic bottle full of water, the child had walked back to where she thought her family was picnicking. But she walked too far; or not far enough.

"At one point, I heard my mother calling me. But she couldn't hear me call back."

The little girl from Dunstable, Mass., would not be heard from again for eight days and eight freezing nights, during which as many as 1,000 persons combed New Hampshire's White Ledge Park for her in a search that captured national attention.

DON MEREDITH

"If I'm not mature now, it's too late."

Now Another Monk Meyer Sparks the Black Knights

WEST POINT, N.Y. — (NEA) — Hardly anyone noticed the 137-pound plebe who said he wanted to play halfback.

This was back in 1933 and there weren't many positions open on the Army Plebe (freshman) team. At 5-10, 137 pounds, Charles Robert (Monk) Meyer didn't even rate a pair of football shoes. He had to write his high school coach for a pair.

A year later, Monk Meyer was a reserve halfback on the varsity team. The Army Athletic Association found him a pair of shoes.

And in 1935 — well, Monk Meyer was one of the best backs in the East. By 1936, he was an All-American.

This season, there is another Monk Meyer on the Army roster. His father is now a brigadier general serving in Viet Nam.

Monk Meyer Jr. never had to worry about football shoes. Coaches don't usually overlook 6-3, 200-pound linebackers.

Originally, young Monk was an end, but was switched to linebacker as a sophomore and lettered at that position last year, playing alongside Townsend Clarke, an All-American candidate.

Secret of Football Is Knowing When the Commercials Arrive

By FRANK ECK

If you're an armchair quarterback during the pro football season there's more to this game than knowing the difference between a split end and a screen pass.

Here are a few of the terms that will alert the viewer to what's up front:

A SLIGHT PAUSE — This is where some strange fellow comes into your living room, loud and clear, and tries to sell you a new automobile.

A BRIEF INTERMISSION — This is really a lot of oil. Even before you had a chance to go out and buy that new car some one is telling you why a certain gasoline is better than another brand.

BACK IN JUST A MOMENT — This is where a viewer might learn about the nicotine and tar content in a certain cigarette. When this happens the cigar smokers sit back and laugh.

STATION IDENTIFICATION — This is where a man finds out how easy it is to borrow money. They never tell you how to save it.

TIME OUT ON THE FIELD — This is where a man finds out if the razor blade he's using is the best one for his face. They never tell you how to sharpen the old blades or what to do with them.

ISOLATED CAMERA — This sometimes is the shot that the game camera missed. It also

This year Monk Jr. and Clarke are back. Army is an improved football team and linebacking is one of the reasons.

Another Monk Meyer is carving a place for himself at West Point.

Meredith in Dallas

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DALLAS — (NEA) — Don Meredith is loose all right. He's so loose he couldn't eat before he went out to play against the Minnesota Vikings.

He sat in the motel where the Dallas Cowboys spend the night before every home game. He was drinking black coffee and rubbing his big hands.

But otherwise you'd never know he was under any pressure. The jokes were all there. He commanded Pete Gent, the basketball player turned flanker, to come over and sing a country song for a visitor. They got to talking about a pastel-colored suit some out-of-town yokel was wearing and trying to describe its color.

"It's plum," decided Gent. "Yeah," nodded Meredith. "plum out of style."

On an empty stomach, Don Meredith, the epitome of the carefree Texan, then went out to play football and failed to complete the first seven passes he threw.

In past years, Coach Tom Landry would have been looking for one of the young quarterbacks on the team — Craig Morton or Jerry Rhome — to fill in. Dallas fans, now acclimated to play-for-pay ideology of football, would have let the boos cascade down from the Cotton Bowl. Boy and man, they've been watching Meredith fail to make the big play for almost 10 years, three of them as a collegian at SMU. "If I'm not mature now," shrugged Don, "it's too late."

"He is a much more mature quarterback," said Landry. "That's not saying I won't use one of the other boys if things aren't going good, but Don will be our starter the next week." Tom let him stay in the game against the Vikings.

That's another area which Don has grown up. At 28, he'd react to a situation with the right And a well-chosen quip.

Green Bay

OFFENSE

PASSING — Not every quarterback could win with Green Bay, says Sherman of Giants, so it's time to pay tribute to Bart Starr as one of standing field generals in pro ball, any day. Older Zeke Bratkowski sharp enough in division playoff to retain job. RATING — A-

RECEIVING — Soon as they decide on a split end, the cast will be Allen Brown, hurt last year, or rookie Tony Jeter have wide open shot at Will go back to Bill Anderson in emergency. Carroll Dale, Boyd Do have wide spot support from Bob Long. Not the greatest but good enough. RATING — B+

RUNNING — With all the publicity, and money, invested in Jim Grabo and Donny Anderson, Coach Vince Lombardi will still rely on Jim Taylor. Paul Hornung tandem for the chips-down stuff. Rookies do solve any anxiety about depth, though, and made it possible to trade off Tom McRae. RATING — B+

LINE — Packers only got moving last year when they reinstated old linable Jerry Kramer, Fuzzy Thurston at guards and shifted Forrest G back to tackle. There's a lot of buzz about making a spot for Gale Gillham, a huge kid from Minnesota, but if there's any change up front, it's Bill Curry challenging Ken Bowman at center. RATING — B

KICKING — Get all they need, both punting and placekicking, from Chandler, whose field goals were decisive in winning the division title. Hornung or Jerry Kramer could do job, too. RATING — A-

DEFENSE

LINE — Gillingham might be even better defense prospect, but there's going to be much tinkering with the established front four that's led Willie Davis, Henry Jordan. You can run straight at 'em, but not at 'em, and they provide adequate pass rush. Tackle Ron Kostelnik's a li who deserves more attention. Couple of big guys like Lloyd Voss might come. RATING — B

LINEBACKING — Awesome in size and in performance. Couldn't ask better physical specimens than Ray Nitschke in middle, Lee Roy Caffey Dave Robinson on the corners. Nitschke hasn't lost any of his head-knocking. Quality falls off sharply after top trio. RATING — A-

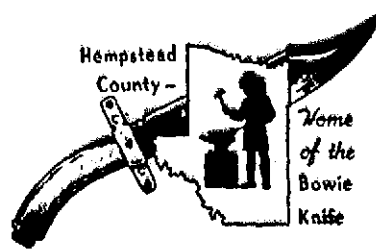

SECONDARY — Willie Wood and Herb Adderley are always all-pro contenders and at the top of their game. They stabilize the unit. Tommy Bratt strong safety is still improving. Could be a good daylight between Hart and Bobby Jeter for the regular right corner job. RATING — B

SUMMARY — This is typical Packer team — experience, smart, confident and leave it to Lombardi to keep them hustling. Pride won it for them year. But there is a symptom of old age creeping up on them. Eleven stars are over 30. It'll show late in the season. PREDICTION — THIRD.

UP AND OVER goes Bob Seagrén. The former world-record holder was using this new pole for the first time and the results seem to be quite favorable. Seagrén held the record at 17-5½ before his roommate, John Pennel, vaulted 17-6.

Food For Thought

Notice from the Labor Department that the wholesale food price index rose 1.3 per cent in August is not news to the average householder. During the past year he has become accustomed to the rising costs of necessities that make him stretch the budget a bit more each month to make ends meet. What might be news is the prediction by an authoritative food trade publication that housewives will spend from 6 to 7 per cent more this year to feed their families than they did last year. In 1965 grocery shoppers rang up a record $60.4 billion food bill, the magazine Food Topics reported. This is roughly $1,025 for each family, a jump of 6.6 per cent from 1964 — the biggest increase since 1957. In the last five years, the cost of living has gained about 6.5 per cent. It looks like a hefty jump, until it is compared with the cost of the federal government which has soared something like 31 per cent during the same period.

It might well be that the unappetizing rise in the cost of food has been caused, at least in part, by the struggles of the farmer, the processor, the wholesaler and the grocer to pay their part of the rocketing cost of government. And Washington doesn't even give stamps. —Dallas (Tex.) Morning News.

The Deprived Class

The single guy (or gal, for that matter) has long howled that he is getting the short end under our income tax laws. These protests are fully justified, says Economist Joseph Pechman of the respected Brookings Institution after an extensive study of the nation's tax structure.

The present system, says Pechman, is heavily discriminatory because it is based on the assumption that it costs twice as much for two people to live as it does for one. In actual fact, it costs about three-fourths as much for one person to live as it does for two. And even though a married couple may be both employed and childless, they have a substantial tax advantage over, say an engaged couple both working.

All this may be quite logical and true, but reform may be slow in coming. After all, single people do not form any powerful political bloc in this country. And anyway most of them have already accepted their status as a persecuted minority and live with it with dignity. — Montgomery (Ala.) Alabama Journal.

He Built A Better Glockenspiel

In this era of space-age advances, some of us forget about the inventors still tinkering away on more mundane matters. For instance, a Florida man was granted a patent last week that may have some bearing on the band music you hear at football games in the future. Herman R. Dean, of Port St. Joe, has built a better glockenspiel. He's attached rods to the instrument which enable a player to hammer the metal bars without having to hold up the instrument. The glockenspiel stands out level in front of the player, or can be tipped in for close-order drill.

Then there's a Decatur, Ga., newspaper publisher who came up with the notion of impregnating paper money with tell-tale odors as a detection device in case it's stolen. Police dogs have even been trained to sniff out the filthy lucre. These fellows may never make the moon-pace with their inventions, but the Patent Office has credited their originality for bright ideas in the workaday world. —Tampa (Fla.) Tribune.

Think Commission Pretty Cool Cats

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Coral Gables tabbies probably think the city commissioners are pretty cool cats.

The City Commission rejected recently an ordinance limiting ownership of cats to two.

The proposal stemmed from complaints about one resident's 39 cats. The commission majority said existing laws could cope with any nuisance posed by the situation.

Young Brides Get Awfully Tired of Hearing Some Things

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that young brides get tired of hearing:

"I made a list of the wedding presents for you, dear. You got 12 electric toasters, 18 silver trays, 7 sugar and creamer sets, 29 dish towels, 3 $10 gift certificates, $13.27 in cash — and a rabbit's foot."

"After all, we've been married a full two weeks. Why shouldn't I spend a night out with the fellows? You don't expect me to be a hermit, do you?"

"Maybe it would be better if we took nothing for granted and started at the very beginning. Well, then cooking consists of the application of heat to raw food material to help make it more tender, tasty and easily digestible. If you are sure you comprehend that, we can go on to the next step."

"Yes, it's a darling apartment, Jill. You and Jack were lucky to find it. But I'm all out of breath from climbing so many stairs. And aren't the rooms a bit on the small side?"

"Of course, I expect you to get up and fix me breakfast every morning, honey. My mother has done it for my dad for 30 years, and my grandmother did it for grandpa for 55 years. On their golden wedding anniversary, she even brought him his breakfast in bed."

"Maybe it is romantic to eat by candlelight, but candles cost money. Anyway, I like to be able to see what's on my plate."

"Well, you don't have to make a federal case out of it the very first time I stop off for a couple of quick ones with the guys where I work."

"I suppose he told you he wanted you to quit your job as soon as you get the furniture paid for? My little man said the same thing to me when we got married back in 1941, and now I'm wearing an office 25-year pin and still pounding a typewriter."

"You must be kidding about the situation."

having to go to the beauty shop. I thought after girls married they fixed their hair at home. What else have they got to do?"

"As your mother, Jill, you know I want you to be happy, but remember I was the one who told you from the start that Jack would give you trouble."

"Whatever he does or doesn't do, don't just cry about it. Make a scene. Husbands can't stand scenes."

"When you're as old as I am, you'll understand that they're all beasts — yes, every blasted one of them."

"You liked me pretty well as I was before we were married. Why do you want me to change all at once now?"

"For Pete's sake, Jill, quit calling me at the office. The other guys are razzing me about it — and the boss doesn't like it."

"Okay, okay, so you fixed the casserole for me as a surprise. Well, after eating it, I'm still surprised. What was it — corn flakes in codfish gravy, or Hungarian graham crackers and meat sauce?"

"Of course, I still love you. Do you want me to write it on a piece of paper and paste it on the kitchen wall?"

"Go dancing? Honey, we're married now. How about going to the movies?"

"That's all pure invention," said German-born Ariane Sheppard in Duesseldorf, Germany Thursday. "We have just bought a new house, which we certainly would not have done if we were thinking about anything like a divorce."

Treasury Doesn't Like Competition

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — If there's one thing the Treasury Department dislikes, it's competition in one of its major endeavors — making money.

Despite the department's phenomenal success over 101 years in eliminating competition, however, counterfeiting reached record levels during the year which ended June 30 and the heightened pace is continuing.

But the Secret Service, which was created in 1865 to combat widespread counterfeiting, also had some bad news for the makers of phony money. It reported record seizures and arrests for counterfeiting during its last fiscal year.

James J. Rowley, the Secret Service director, said the major factor in the bogus money boom is the improvement in photography and printing which has made it easier and quicker to produce counterfeit bills.

And the service added that counterfeiters, in general, are turning out more phony bills per capita than they once did. It's simply a matter of running the presses longer.

"There's no indication that this criminal activity will lessen in the coming year," Rowley said. He added that the rise in counterfeiting generally follows the rise in the society's affluence and the increase in the amount of money in circulation.

At last count on Aug. 31, there was $38.6 billion in paper money in circulation.

Despite improvements in the quality of counterfeit bills, they still fall short of Treasury standards — the parchment, for example, on which real money is printed has never been duplicated by counterfeiters.

The Secret Service dislikes talking publicly about the techniques it uses to catch counterfeiters, but tipsters and undercover agents play an effective part in enforcement.

Among the modern tools the Treasury uses are its laboratories where it can examine the minute details of paper, inks — also not duplicated by counterfeiters — and other characteristics peculiar to bogus bills.

Sheppard's Wife Denies Rumors

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — The wife of Dr. Sam Sheppard has brushed off rumors that the couple's marriage is in trouble.

"That's all pure invention," said German-born Ariane Sheppard in Duesseldorf, Germany Thursday. "We have just bought a new house, which we certainly would not have done if we were thinking about anything like a divorce."

Mrs. Sheppard, the former Ariane Tebbenjohanns, is in Germany "to take care of some personal and financial matters."

The couple was married after they struck up a friendship by correspondence while Sheppard was in prison, convicted of murdering his first wife. He was freed after winning an appeal. A new trial is scheduled to begin this month.

Big Bomber Waves Hit the Enemy

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Waves of U.S. B52 bombers hammered North Vietnamese infiltration routes and bivouac areas in the embattled demilitarized zone today.

In their 14th raid since the giant bombers began hitting inside the eight-engine planes unloaded tons in the western sector.

The U.S. Military Command said the bombers straddled the demarcation line which runs east-west across the center of the six-mile-wide zone between North and South Viet Nam.

Just south of the zone, U.S. Marines pushing through mountainous jungle terrain encountered only light contact as they continued Operation Prairie in an effort to halt the southward infiltration of the North Vietnamese 324B Division.

The Marines reported their enemy death toll nearing the 1,000 mark. They took only four prisoners since they began the operation Aug. 3.

The Marines claimed 992 North Vietnamese killed.

Seeks New Ways to End V. Nam War

WASHINGTON (AP) —

DENT Johnson hopes to learn from Far Eastern allies during his Manila conference trip new proposals for ending the war in Viet Nam and new plan for postwar security and reconstruction.

The President told a news conference Thursday, in confirming his schedule for a six-nation tour later this month, that at the Manila conference "I want to be a good listener as well as an active participant."

The schedule calls for the President to be in Manila from Oct. 23 to Oct. 27. He will meet with the government heads of South Viet Nam, Korea, Thailand, the Philippines, New Zealand, and Australia — nations with some forces in the Vietnamese war.

Johnson has expanded his trip to the Manila conference into the most extensive Asian tour ever undertaken by an American President. He and Mrs. Johnson plan to visit New Zealand and Australia before the Manila summit, and Thailand, Malaysia and Korea afterwards.

The President was asked at his news conference if there is any possibility he would visit South Viet Nam, too. "No consideration has been given at this time to any such proposal or any such visit," he replied.

But speculation persisted in Saigon that Johnson would make a stop in Viet Nam — even if only for a few hours. The most persistent report in Saigon was that the President may fly to Da Nang, the huge U.S. Marine base that military men described as the most secure base in the country where his presidential plane could land.

A newsman asked Johnson about charges by presidential critics that the trip has political motivations. Johnson declined to comment on the charges, but said: "I just think you have to evaluate the critics and judge the circumstances and draw your own conclusions."

In discussing the Manila conference, Johnson said he was sure that the Asian leaders "will have some specific plans to suggest" on ways for ending the conflict and "for making that area of the world prosperous and peaceful in the years to come."

Once more, as he has in the past, he left open the door for participation by Communist North Viet Nam in postwar rehabilitation programs, stating that when he spoke of this prospect he was talking of the "development of Viet Nam." Officials said this was a deliberate reference to the whole of the divided country, North as well as South.

Fun, Food, Football Is the Menu for This City Next Friday

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Fun, food, and football will all be available next Friday night at Hope High School. And people! You'll see close friends and newcomers alike, because of three things — a supper sponsored and prepared by the Hope Junior Auxiliary, a top-notch football game that will pit the Hope Bobcats and the Fairview Cardinals, and the U of A Marching Band that will play during the game and at half-time.

You might not see how an evening could be any better, but this one will also carry with it the knowledge that some graduate of Hope High School will be enabled to further a much-desired education. How? Through the Hope Junior Auxiliary Scholarship Fund. Money derived from the supper will be used for that fund.

The Hope Junior Auxiliary has one project a year to secure money for a scholarship fund of $500 a year, which is given to a graduate of Hope High on a continuing basis as long as a "C" average is maintained at the college of his choice.

One such recipient will get his degree in engineering this next January, and in a letter to the local organization which made his desire a reality, he expressed appreciation for the money, yes; but also for the faith the Junior Auxiliary members had had in him. He wrote that it was their faith which inspired him to continue his education when several times he had considered quitting.

Next Friday, October 14, another good spaghetti supper will be served by the Hope Junior Auxiliary in the Hope High School cafeteria, beginning at 5 p.m. and continuing until 7 p.m. This will be the same night that the Hope-Fairview football game will be played in Hammons Stadium, so fans from that point in South Arkansas will be on hand as well as over 100 U of A students in the Razorback Marching Band, who are special invited guests.

But never fear. There will be plenty of food for everyone, the Junior Auxiliary assured us. And that food will include: spaghetti with your choice of meat sauce or mushroom sauce, green salad, dessert, and beverage. The price per plate will be $1.50 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Everyone likes good fun, good food, and good football. You'll find them all at Hope High on Friday, October 14. Come on out. They're expecting you.

Gas Bomb Protest Brings Fine

SALISBURY, England (AP) — A young English nobleman who set off a gasoline bomb to protest the use of one of England's loveliest old villages by an American film company has been ordered to pay a $1,400 fine or go to jail for 12 months.

Lt. Sir Ranulph Twistleton-Wykeham-Fiennes, 22, and three of his friends pleaded guilty Wednesday to setting off the delayed action bombs in the village of Castle Combe last June. The friends' fines ranged from $280 to $560.

The village 90 miles west of London is a tourist mecca because of its unspoiled main street, spotlessness and thatched-roof cottages. Twentieth Century-Fox filmed scenes there for its $36-million musical adapted from Hugh Lofting's "Dr. Doolittle" books for children.

Mrs. Humphrey Is Satisfied

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Mrs. Hubert H. Humphrey says she's happy where she is as wife of the vice president. Her ambitions don't include becoming America's First Lady.

"I don't want her (Mrs. Lyndon Johnson's) position," Mrs. Humphrey told a gathering in Atlanta, Ga., Thursday. "I'm happy where I am."

Mrs. Humphrey talked to newsmen and dignitaries at the Southeastern fair where she crowned the 1966 homemaker queen.

Khrushchev Lives Quietly in Country

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
MOSCOW (AP) — The countryside around Moscow has had a magnificently sunny summer, and now autumn leaves brighten the rolling hills.

Appreciation of the rural Russian scenery is marred for one country squire, however, Nikita S. Khrushchev, former Communist party boss, lives quietly with the beauty of nature but not out of choice.

In the two years since he was ousted from power, Khrushchev has spent his time liking, putting in a garden, doing a little hunting in the birch and pine woods, and reading.

Occasionally he is visited by old friends who still remember the ebullient, earthy little man who rattled nuclear rockets at the world. Those are personal friends rather than the colleagues who turned unexpectedly on him Oct. 14, 1964, and stripped him of the Soviet premiership and Communist party leadership.

About 20 friends drove out to Khrushchev's country villa last April 17 to help him celebrate his 72nd birthday with a barbecue, it rained.

His four children go out frequently to see Khrushchev and his wife, Nina Petrovna, 66. The grandchildren — five at last report — romp on the lawn.

The Khrushchevs are comfortably pensioned in a pleasantly spacious house near the village of Petrovsky Daliye, about 25 miles west of Moscow.

The Khrushchevs also have an apartment in downtown Moscow three-quarters of a mile from the Kremlin. Mrs. Khrushchev uses it occasionally on shopping trips.

Her husband rarely goes there — because he still attracts a crowd. The new leaders apparently do not like that. They provide a chauffeured car, and the chauffeur may have other duties than simply taking instructions from the passenger.

Khrushchev has come to town twice to vote. The first time, exactly five months after his ouster, was carefully arranged by the authorities. It proved that he was well and living peacefully, but he looked like a man eating himself up with frustration.

His most recent appearance was at the parliamentary elections June 12. Khrushchev voted for his successor, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. With the expiration of his own term in Parliament, Khrushchev lost his last official job.

Khrushchev said then that he had been sick.

"But everyone gets sick now and again," he added.

Superstitious About Cookouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., says he doesn't mind the current siege of rain in Washington, but he's getting a bit superstitious about planning any parties — especially cookouts.

Thursday night was the night for Pell and his wife to play host again to Rhode Island students at colleges in the Washington area.

But it rained. The party was held as planned — but inside the Pell home. Pell's staffers manned the grills in the garden outside.

Last Sept. 14 the publishers of Pell's new book, "Megalopolis Unbound," had a party in three special railroad cars to mark publication of the book. That was the day the long drought in the Washington area was broken by rain. And it has been raining for the most part ever since, doubling the normal September rainfall.

5,000 U.S. Men Killed in Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Statistics indicate that more than 5,000 U.S. servicemen may be killed in Viet Nam this year.

Between last Jan. 1 and last week, 3,765 Americans had been killed, including 91 during the week ended last Saturday. Records show that 6,944 South Vietnamese had been killed in the nine-month period, including 87 during the week ended last Saturday.

As the U.S. forces take a bigger part in the war, both their death toll and its percentage in relation to Vietnamese losses have climbed. American losses through last weekend were 54 per cent of the Vietnamese deaths. And they have been at 58 per cent since June 30.

Records also show that more than 22,000 American troops have been wounded in action since the year began.

Johnson Likes Congress Way It Is

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says he likes Congress just the way it is and thinks most candidates for reelection will win.

But he says he has no plans to support any Democratic candidate for governor who is a segregationist.

Home front politics loomed large in Johnson's news conference Thursday — with the Nov. 8 election slightly more than a month away — even though the topic of the day was his planned trip to Asia later this month.

The President, in an opening statement, said he will meet in Manila with leaders of Asian countries "that are most directly helping the South Vietnamese to resist aggression and to build a free nation."

Later he outlined the itinerary for an arduous six-nation tour of Australia, New Zealand, the Philippines, South Korea, Thailand and Malaysia which he and Mrs. Johnson will cover in 18 days.

Johnson said he did not want to see his Pacific mission give rise to baseless hopes for a peaceful settlement of the war in Viet Nam.

"I have not seen any developments in the recent weeks," he said, "that would cause me to hold out hope or to give you any real justification or encouragement."

With all the talk of far journeys, the first question put to Johnson dealt with politics at home. He was asked how he felt, "as titular head of the Democratic party," about the several "avowed segregationists" who are Democratic candidates for governor in the South.

Johnson responded that it was very evident some of these candidates don't agree with his "policies that deal with equal rights and equal treatment for all of our citizens."

Without naming anyone, Johnson said these particular candidates have not sought his support "and I have no plans to do so" — that is, support them.

Slow Start for War on Crime

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Police Department's war on crime got off to a slow start recently.

Within hours after a departmental announcement of a beefed-up staff in the Holdup Bureau to quell a rash of crime, five businesses, including three banks, were robbed.

More than $4,000 was taken in three bank holdups within a three-hour period. Police reported a $200 stickup at a loan company and a $220 robbery at a bakery.
